

Lasting Legacy Documentaries

As we respond to the gifts and challenges that we encounter from birth to death, we create narratives. Such narratives are repositories for personal observations, experiences and understandings that ultimately serve to inform, guide and inspire others as they travel their own life journeys. These stories are part of a legacy that we leave to those persons with whom we are connected, either distantly or intimately.

Our goal at High St. Graphics is to document your life by creating a poignant and intimate video portrait, one that allows you to share, not just an account of your life events, but--more importantly--the wisdom you have gained in the process of living. We want to create a record of your story that will continue through subsequent generations.

LASTING LEGACY DOCUMENTARIES

High St. Graphics is a premiere legacy video company offering a unique cinematic approach to recording personal histories.

Together we will preserve the meaning and value of your life's journey.

WHY LASTING LEGACY?

We at High St. Graphics are enthusiastic about our work, and we approach each new project with keen interest. As we learn about you, we design a format that best conveys your history and personal message. In addition to filming interviews with you and with significant people in your life, we incorporate photographs and other suitable media from your personal collection. The result is a beautiful, multidimensional, feature-length film.

We deeply appreciate the uniqueness of each person's perspective and life experiences, and our documentaries are designed to convey your truth and your spirit. As professional filmmakers and passionate storytellers we are able to re-create your life's journey as a colorful cinematic experience.

THE PROCESS

Our process starts with a phone call. We will set up an initial meeting with you so that we can become personally acquainted. We will consult with you to determine what will be the most effective way to tell your story. If you wish, we will provide you with questions to guide your narrative. We are happy to film interviews with you in your home or at any other place of your choice,

On the day of the interview there will be at least one technician and one interviewer on site. We will bring professional equipment such as lights, cameras and microphones. Setting up may take up to one hour before the interview starts. During that time, our interviewer will spend time with you, looking at relevant materials that you may have (such as photographs, video, artwork, etc.) and discussing with you the format of the interview. During the interview, you will do most of the talking, though we may occasionally provide prompts to make sure that your story proceeds in the desired direction. For some portraits we may also follow you around for a couple of hours during a day, filming a typical "day-in-the-life" sequence during which you can talk about relevant events, locations or items that enhance your story.

Once again, you will be invited to share with us supporting materials such as your photographs, slides and videotapes. These will be digitally archived by our professional staff and incorporated into your video portrait. Using your interview, "day-in-the-life" footage, and the supporting materials you have provided, we will endeavor to paint a vibrant picture of your life's journey. The final video will be a polished documentary-style portrait according to the specifications listed in the package you will have selected. Each package will be customized according to what is needed to tell your unique story.

Before getting started we will identify your package needs and will send you a quote. A deposit of half the listed price will be due at the start of the project to assure availability of our crew on the date(s) that you have reserved for production. A finished DVD will be ready within 4 weeks of the end of the production.
